bown in the union depot there are a thousand carpet-bags, satched, grab-bags and parcels piled upon shelves to await owners. The collection is known as owners. The collection is known as stray baggage, and it is added to or taken away almost daily. The man who has charge of it knows pretty well the contents of each, and what he doesn't know be can guess at. Yesterday, when a woman entered his domain and said she was looking for a lost satchel, he promptly replied:

"Very well, madam. We will begin our search in division 'A.' Were both

"Very well, madam. We will begin our search in division 'A.' Were both the handles off your satchel, the bottom partly ripped off and a red weelen rag sticking out of the side?"

"No, sir."

"Ah! then I missed it. Let's see; here's a satchel which has been here for about four weeks. The first thing on the red wig and a pair of blue top is a red wig and a pair of blue atockings."

That isn't mine, sir." "That isn't mine, sir,"
"Just ao. Belongs to some poor soul who can't be happy without it. There's a satchel which bears your description, but it can't be yours. The principal contents are a bottle of poor whisky, an old hat and a dime novel. Can't belong

"No, sir."
"Well, here's another bundle. I should say by the feel that it contained two night caps, a volume of postry and a set of false frizzes. Do you identify

"No, sir. I don't."
"Does this satchel resemble yours?"
"Yes, sir."

"Any familiar marks about it?" Yes, several. "Did your natchel contain a package of sixtees love letters, each one leading off with 'Dear Ben,' and closing with 'your own darling?"

"No, sir—no, sir—that isn't mine."

"This one isn't yours, either; because it contains a suchre deck and some faro chips. Now look up there. Third one from the right, eh? Well, here it is. Is it yours?"

"Yes, sir."
"Glad of it. Can you describe the

"Yes, eir. The first thing on top is

"Yes, I know—a pair of stockings with holes in the heels."

"No offense, ma'am. Many imposters come here, and we must be particular. Please go on."

"The next thing is a-a-"
"An old corset with a shoe string for a lace-perfectly correct. Please de scribe the next article."

I won't do it!" she exclaimed.

"Pahaw, now but you muan't take of-fense. There is a pair of shoes with half the buttons off, a bottle of face powder, a pair of gloves with the fingers out, "That isn't mine at all."

"Oh, it ien't, eh? Well I'm sorry."
"I don't believe mine is here, and you meedn't go to any further trouble."

"Very well. I shall go to dinner in half an hour. I place this satchel in this corner and I shall tell the old man who relieves me at noon that a boy will come for it. That's all-good bye-hope you'li find your baggage."
When he returned at 1 o'clock the satchel was gone.

"tereasing the Spider."

It was a smoking car on the Hudson River Road. A New Yorker was ex-hibiting an invention to several gen tlemen, when an old farmer, with a set-tied look of sadness on his face, heaved a sigh and said:

or,"
"Wall, it sort o' calls up old recollec tions. Twenty years ago this month I thought I had a fortune in my grasp." Yes, sir; I believed I had atruck the biggest thing since steam was brought into use."

"What was it?"

One day when the old woman was flat down with her lame leg I had to pancake batter all fixed up I couldn't find the greased rag the old woman used to rub over the spider. Sort of absent minded like, I picked up a piece af raw turnip from the table and used it in-It worked to a charm; no smell, no smoke, no stick." He paused here to wipe away a tear, and then continued:

"There was the fortune. I figured that 9,000,000 greated rags were in use in this country nine months in the year. Fifty thousand barrels of grease were used up greasing spiders. Over $100,000 wasted and gone. One turnip would make ix grassers -1,000 bushels would make enough to supply the country. All that was needed wa. to cut them out in fancy style, affix a handle, and go to supplying the demand at 10 cents each."

"There was money in it."
"No, there wasn't. I bought 100 bushels of turnips, $56 worth of wire, and fixed two men to go to work, and then I took some greaters and went over into Herkimer county to see how it. into Herhimer county to see how it would take. They wouldn't have it. They had something more simple and much cheaper."

"What could it have been?"

"They spit on the spider," replied the old man, as a tear made a break down his nose and was swallowed up in the dust on the floor.

What is Likely to Happen. A project is in contemplation to in troduce a bill to provide for the control of the telegraph by the government, and to fix an equitable rate. The recent consolidation has given an impetus to this movement. Persons acquainted with telegraphy say that $18,000,000 would be sufficient for the government to build a new line which would cover as large a territory as that now eccupied by the existing lines, and that the reduced cost of materia's would small sum as compared with the valuations of the watered stock of the telegraph company. The government, moreover, would have the advantage that it would not be compelled to put hase a right-of-way, as it has the power to declare any road in the country a post-road, upon which it would have Bramble's Son Leek.

Mr. W. H. Bramble, of this city, the inventor and patentee of a large number of locks, which are manufactured by Russell & Erwin, of New Britain, Conn., has just finished another new contrivance in that line, which, after a careful examination, seems to us to be the most complete door lock we have ever seen, combining more new and useful features than any one would imagine could be gathered together in one lock. The outside appearance of this lock is much like those on the doors of Peddecord, Burrows & Co's bank-which are known as Bramble's Lock and Latch combined-but the inner continue until every article is disposed construction is entirely different. It is neither a rim nor a mortise lock, but is "gained in" to a depth of about threeeighths of an inch, on the Inside door stile, letting the plate to which the thumb latch and handle are attached rest on the door stile, thus leaving only the thickness speakers that has graced the platform the present season. A true orator, full of fervor and eloquence "-Portland (Me) of the plate to project. The working part of the lock is attached to the inside of this plate, without having any case around it, and only projects three eighths of an inch from the plate. In setting this lock delivered his lecture to a full audience in Concert Hall last evening. It was historical, geographical, and brim full of wit, it is only necessary to "gain" or cut out a space three eighths of an inch deep, two inches wide and four inches long, on the inside of the door stile, and screw on the

This lock is one of the most remarkable specimens of mechanical ingenuity we have ever seen, in its line, being simple yet exceedingly novel, ornamental and yet useful and durable. It is, in short, the perfect embodiment of American ingenuity, in a utilitarian form, and will add not a little to the renown of the inventor, whose genius has cropped out in so many useful contrivances heretofore, and who, we hope, has struck a real trunks and duplicate stock. The Fenton honanza in his last.

"l'acte Jue's" Birchday Party.

The comfortable and pleasant home o Mr. Joseph Emery, on Saturday last, was the scene of a very pleasant social gath ering. The party was given in honor of the 68th anniversary of Mr. Emery's birthday, and in response to a large number of invitations, at an appointed hour a large company had assembled, each one appearing to enjoy the pleasure of meeting his friends and neighbors; and suit ble to the occasion, Mr. Emery, being the oldest man in the township, age, nativity. and the general welfare of all was thoroughly discussed. Thus the party enjoyed themselves in "social chat" until the dinner hour came, when all were conducted to the dining-room, where a hountiful repast had been prepared, to which all did ample justice. Late in the evening, having enjoyed a most pleasant day, the party began to repair to their several places of abode, all wishing "Uncle Joe" many a pleasant achiversary in the future. Those who participated in this party will long remember it as one of the most delightful affairs of their experience.

Law of the Case.

No man who builds up to his line has the legal right to open a window upon his neighbor's land. The main reason for refusing such a privilege is that after twenty years' enjoyment it becomes a vested right so that the owner of the land upon which the windows open cannot build it up, and thus by his own will close up the windows. An owner of a lot up town allowed his neighbors on each side to open side windows to their houses upon it, supposing that they could only enjoy it until he wished to build. After twenty-one years he found that he could not build so as to close the windows, nor could be sell the lot for anything like the value it should have represented.

Columbus made an egg stand; but Italians of less renown have made the peanut stand.

Burglars never wait for an opening in their business. They go to work at once and make an opening. Did you ever know a man who talked auch of imself who did not have a poor subject for his conversation.

A great many men are cottage built; that is to say, they have but one story, and they are forever telling it.

"Are you lost, my little fellow?" asked a gentleman of a 4 year old. "No," he sobbed in reply; "but my mother is." A Pastor Made Happy.

I have been greatly troubled with my I have been greatly troubled with my kidneys and liver for over twenty years, and during that endre time I was never free from pain. My medical bills were enormous, and I visited both the Hot and White Springs, noted for the curative qualities of the water. I am happy to say I am now a well man, and entirely as the result of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure. With such glorious results I am only too glad to testify regarding the remedy which has made me so happy.
